Introduction

The Ontario government is in the process of reviewing the province's outdated employment laws, with the goal of tackling the growth of precarious work. This is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to make sweeping changes to employment laws that could benefit all workers — both union and non-unionized workers.

The Ontario Federation of Labour (OFL) is the umbrella group for unions and working people across Ontario, representing approximately one million workers. The OFL and participating unions are asking workers in Ontario for their opinions about issues related to precarious employment. This is part of a campaign that the OFL has launched to win changes to employment laws — called Make It Fair.

This survey can also be accessed online at the OFL campaign website — www.makeitfair.ca. All your answers will be strictly confidential. No individual responses will be reported and no names will be associated with any of the results that are reported. The survey will take about five minutes, depending on your answers. The OFL plans to report out the results of this survey in early October. If you participate, you can be entered in a draw to win a $200 gift card for Loblaws or Metro grocery store.
